We Mourn the Loss of Profits.

GREAT FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

SALE OF CLOTHING

We are going to make some improvements in our store room after January 1st. The contract is signed and sealed with the contractors—consequently we are compelled to sell our stock or pack it away. We prefer selling it at a sacrifice.

NOTHING RESERVED

Every suit of Clothes, every Overcoat, every Pair of Pants marked in plain figures. We will just split them in half. This means 50 cents on the dollar. The cheapest sale of fine ready made Clothing in Kentucky.

Our business is not conducted by fakes and guessing schemes. The man that's selling watch chains on the street corner for $1, throwing in a watch just to show his generosity, needs watching. "Bunce Stearns," "Ruzzle Ruzzle" tricksters and green goods sharps always promise great returns from small investments. Intelligent minds are on to the racket, and take no stock in such humbuggery. 'Tis value they want.

100 CENTS WORTH OF GOODS

FOR 100 CENTS IN CASH

Is what we give the people. But at this sale

100 CENTS WORTH AT 50 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR!

Every article in our establishment is ticketed at the lowest price possible. The stamp of durability is on every garment. If you have not dealt with us, ask your neighbor, who has. We invite you to our store, feeling assured that you will be pleased with our garments and satisfied with the matchless values we offer.

TO THE VOTERS

Of the Tenth Congressional District.
The sudden striking down at his post of duty of the lamented Mr. Kendall will render it necessary for the Democrats of this Congressional District to hold, at a very early day, a convention to nominate a candidate at the special election to fill the vacancy. It is not yet known when nor where this convention will be held, but the time will necessarily be short, and it will be impossible for any candidate to see all the people. I take this method of announcing my candidacy to you. Clark county has always been content to render her valiant service to whomsoever her sister counties might put forward for this great office. Only once 'as she had an aspirant, and he did not succeed to the nomination. Her people feel that after all these years of fidelity to the chosen sons of other counties they have some claims which the Democracy of the district will recognize.

Situated as we are at the very gateway to all the district, there is not one county in all the sisterhood, in the development of which we are not deeply and vitally interested, and I promise, if elected to this great position, that I will waste no opportunity which offers to develop and build up this magnificent domain of counties.

The great work so ably, faithfully and industriously undertaken by the dead Congressman ought to fall into hands that will earnestly carry it forward to its legitimate completion. The beautiful symmetry of his work ought to be preserved to the end. No local prejudices ought to be allowed to mar any of the undertakings which he had put forward in behalf of any person or community. I promise that if elected I will earnestly labor to finish his work—not spoil it.

As to my Democracy and faithfulness to my party I refer you to the people of my own county who have honored me with the most important county office in their gift by probably the largest majority ever given in the county. I have stood in the midst of every political fray since I became a voter, and have unfalteringly offered battle to every enemy of Democracy and the people. I have never failed to heed the cry of Democratic distress, whether it came from my own people or from those doing desperate battle with the enemy elsewhere.

If elected I will serve the people faithfully, honestly and industriously. I will give them all my time, and the appeal of the humblest dweller in all this district will not go unheeded.

M. C. LISLE.

Judge Lisle Endorsed.

The Clay City Chronicle has the following strong endorsement of Judge M. C. Lisle, of Winchester, for Congress:

"Hon. Marcus Lisle, of Winchester, is being urged by his numerous friends to become a candidate for the seat in Congress made vacant by the death of the lamented J. W. Kendall. Hun Rodney Haggard, who was among the leading candidates at the convention which nominated Mr. Kendall, has, as we learn, declined to be a candidate, his professional business demanding his entire time. Judge Lisle is one of the most popular and deserving men in Eastern Kentucky, an able lawyer, an upright citizen, and a gentleman in all that the name implies. If the Democracy should select him for its candidate his election is a foregone conclusion. While we are not advised as to why may be before the convention, and have no desire to forestall public opinion, our personal knowledge of Judge Lisle is such as to satisfy us that the party will make no mistake should he be selected as the standard bearer."

OUR LAMENTED DEAD.

The Funeral Carriage—Burial at West Liberty of Hon. J. Wick Kendall.

The remains of our lamented friend, Congressman J. W. Kendall, were accompanied from Washington by the family and Senator Pasco, of Florida; Senator Warren, of Wyoming; Representative Long, of Texas; Representative Belknap, of Michigan; Representative Paynter, of Kentucky; S. S. Yoder, Sergeant-at-Arms, and M. M. Robinson, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, and the burial took place at West Liberty on Friday. The funeral cortege, which left Moorehead on Thursday, consisted of hearse, fifteen carriages and fifty horsemen.

J. Wick Kendall was born in Morgan county, June 23, 1834. Like most of the inhabitants of the mountain country, he was passionately attached to the land of his birth, and lived in the same county all his life. His father, Rev. Allen Kendall, moved to Texas many years ago, and died there. Wick Kendall was educated in the common schools of the county, and attended the academy at Owensville one term. He studied law under the late William Barnes, and was elected County Attorney, and was re-elected at the expiration of his first term.

When the war broke out he espoused the cause of the South, and was Adjutant of the Tenth Kentucky Cavalry, commanded by his brother-in-law, Col. Jack Mays, now of Virginia. Directly after the close of the war he was elected to represent the counties of Morgan and Rowan in the Legislature, and was again elected in 1869. He also served his circuit as Commonwealth's Attorney for six years. He had two sons and two daughters. Mrs. Kendall is a daughter of the late Joe Davidson, of Prestonburg. She is also a cousin of the lamented Judge John M. Elliott, whose tragic death caused such a sensation a few years ago. Mr. Kendall was twice before within a hairbreadth of securing the Democratic nomination for Congress. Last year he was nominated and elected by a large majority.

A Mournful Record.

No section of the State can show a sadder official record than death has made in Eastern Kentucky, within less than twenty years. First Judge John M. Elliott, of the Court of Appeals, fell dead on our streets at the hands of an assassin, afterwards sentenced to death and later declared insane. Judge Richard Reid, of Mt. Sterling, of the Superior Court, died by his own hand. Senators Joseph Gardner, R. M. Pieratt and John S. Hargis died while in the performance of their official duties. Congressman W. P. Taulbee was killed in Washington; Judge Van B. Young, of the Superior Court, was scarcely at rest in the grave before Congressman J. W. Kendall followed him. It is a mournful record, which all will hope may never be repeated elsewhere.—Frankfort Capital.

Proceedings of the Morgan County Convention.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Morgan County, held in the Court-house in West Liberty, Ky., on March 14, 1892, R. F. Elam was chosen Chairman, and Judge O. J. McKinzie Secretary.

On motion of John P. Salyer the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we deeply deplore the sudden and untimely death of our beloved, esteemed and distinguished fellow-citizen, John W. Kendall, who was an honest man, a true friend and unwavering Democrat; a faithful Representative of the people, and above and beyond all, a Christian gentleman, who, without a single premonition, met the King of Terror while clad in the whole armor of pure Democracy, of which he was a living exponent in all his walks while in the service of this people their Representative in the Congress of the United States.

Resolved, That we know none more worthy or deserving of the reputation of the mantle of the lamented deceased than his bright, genial, energetic and popular son, Joe M. Kendall, of the county of Floyd, who is an equipped, ready debater, a true and faithful Democrat, a sober, direct and honest citizen, who the Democracy take delight in joining the county of Floyd in commending to the Democracy of this Congressional District as being in every way worthy of filling the unexpired term of his lamented father.

Resolved, That the Morgan Messenger and all the Democratic papers of this Congressional District be and are hereby requested to publish these proceedings.

Resolved, That this meeting adjourn since 10 P. M.

R. F. ELAM, Chairman.
O. J. MCKENZIE, Secretary.

Death of Hon. J. W. Kendall.

The death of Hon. "Wick" Kendall, Congressman from the Tenth District, which occurred in Washington, caused much regret here in Frankfort, where he was well known. He had but just entered upon his Congressional career, but all reports from Washington agree that he was rapidly becoming familiar with his duties, and bade fair to become an efficient Representative. His death was the result of a stroke of apoplexy, from which he never sufficiently recovered to recognize those about him. His family had accompanied him to Washington, and were with him at the time of his death.—Frankfort Capital.

Still Hopping on Capital Removal.

Representative May, of Lexington, last week introduced a bill entitled "An act to remove the seat of government of the Commonwealth of Kentucky from the city of Frankfort and locate it at such place in the Commonwealth as may receive the highest number of votes cast at the general election to be held in November, 1895."

Here is an epitaph which will cause business men to do some thinking: "Here lies the bones of John Jones, Esq., formerly a merchant of this city. He died in the 80th year of his age, loved and respected by all who knew him; but the devil of it was nobody knew him—he didn't advertise."

Success in Walton, Ky.

J. C. Robinson, of Walton, writes: "I have just removed a knot from a horse's leg that was left from a hurt. The leg is now perfectly smooth and natural. I have a very high regard for Quinn's Ointment, which has accomplished the above result."—Sold by Rose & Jones.

GIRLS IN KNICKERBOCKERS.

Fair Feminity Issues on Sometimes Wearing Its Brothers' Clothes.

Ever since Eve put women into subjection and fetters they have been kicking. Some of their kicks the world has heard of, such as Miss Joan of Arc, who insisted on being Mr. Joan of Arc, and wearing the ironers, which women think are the modernized form of a man's privileges. Several of these cases the world knows of and others it suspects. It knows very well—though, of course, it doesn't intrude the subject when driving a couple of tea with a fair one—that girls often dress in their brothers' clothes. In the nineteenth century to dress in one's brother's clothes is to dress in a dress reformer, and where Maiden Auntie in her "pook-pook" and bluish in her 6x4 handkerchief, she now seeks the privacy of her maiden apartments and revels in the freedom of—she calls them knickerbockers. Eva is Eve nineteenth centuryed, is up to date, and has all the modern improvements. She, of course, added the wearing of trousers to the list of things she had, and when I called the other morning she told me about it. "His mistress was in," said the lackey, with a smile made up of the recollection of past tips and the anticipation of tips to come.

"My dear," said Eva, rushing up into the scent of the white lace upon me mingled with that of the violet upon her. "I was just thinking of you (Eva has such an orderly way of doing things) and I want to tell you something. How do you like my dress?"

Eva was gowned very becomingly. She knew the trick—just learned by us women the other day—of expending all the dressmaker's art upon the skirt and letting the bodice take care of itself. The lines of beauty below the waist rendered themselves equally in action or repose, and Eva was just such a beautiful being as the correct costume loves to turn out. An edge of far round the skirt rested bewitchingly on the top of her tiny shoes, that peeped out and out, not unlike the nose of the poet talked about. A dainty pluk silk blouse waited, that low fell in the throat, though slightly bound in by a linen collar, completed the ensemble. She stood up from the wrist, and showed a warm, rounded arm. Eva had lost her hair, by love or fever, and it lay in a mass with every hair having a "contrary" opinion of its own position.

"Now," said this charming young dandy, "rest you, my love, and drink me of chocolate; I'll be with you in a minute." "Hullo!" cried I, in astonishment, a moment after. "Where did Eva get the new buttons?" And bless me, he's pretty enough to fall in love with. The new buttons was crossing the drawing-room. "What a lovely set! Such a boy!" "What a card for Eva! All her girl friends will die to visit her often, and how that boy will be made love to," I thought, as he came nearer. He was arrayed in the richest of coral-brown plush knickerbockers, culminated up the sides with bright-colored silks, and finished at the knees with bows of ribbons. Brown silk stockings, continued down the legs, down, and were finished with daintily made shoes that somehow looked a bit effeminate. Traveling up again there was an exceedingly girlish, white, and white, finished with white linen cuffs and collars, and a brown velvet toque crowning a mass of shades of our grandmothers. It was Eva's self.

"Now, my dear," said Eva, sitting down and crossing her knees, as though she had done so from time immemorial, "don't get hysterical. You see, dearest, I always liked boy's clothes, and I came to the conclusion some time ago that there was no reason why I shouldn't enjoy myself by myself in the way myself most enjoyed. If the Lord had intended us to be dressed in one piece, as we have been erroneously ever since the creation, he wouldn't have made us in two pieces don't you see—I read, I don't I receive my friends. I live in the boom of my fun in all the glorious freedom of knickerbockers; and, when somebody comes in whom I don't know or whom I don't trust, that skirt you saw is put on in an instant, and I would not be calmed, cribbed, confined, bound in by it." "Hut, Eva," said I, "goodly, 'what about your lovers?' 'What, gracious,' she screamed, 'there is Harry. Let me get out of here before he sees me; I wouldn't, oh, I wouldn't, I wouldn't, that he should know about this.'" And at dashed the pretty boy, coming back almost instantly, arrayed in the becoming privacy of her skirts, and with no traces of the late outburst except a lovely, guilty blush upon her cheeks. Harry was announced immediately. As Eva sat down she leisurely unfolded a tempting little sheet. Poor Harry, who had guessed what a revolution that little skirt concealed. Feeling I was in the third person, plural number, objective case, governed by the imperative necessity of the boy's said adieu.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

A DEATH STRUGGLE.

Republican Leaders Preparing for a Battle with the Democrats.

The republican party in no other section of the country shows as many signs of terror, not to say panic, as it has been exhibiting in Illinois for some time past. Within the last few days there have been three meetings of the republican state central committee, and two of an organization of republican editors called under state central committee auspices, to agree upon and formulate an editorial party policy, whatever that may be, and to arrange and prepare for the shipment of political plate matter marked "official." At none of these meetings has there been any effort at concealment of the fact that the party is in a critical condition. That fact, indeed, has been stated as the cause for the frequency of the meetings themselves, and in stating it the party orators have urged both perfect harmony and thorough organization as the only means of escape from the avoidance of disasters. It is strange, in view of this condition of things, that the greatest republican state next to Pennsylvania, that democrats who style themselves "practical politicians" should shut their eyes to the inviting conquest of the north-west and insist upon an adherence to the old combination of 1860, when so often fought and so rarely brought success to the party.

Politicians can read with interest and profit the proceedings of all of these meetings of "practical politicians" in the state of Illinois and Grant. If they read them with wisdom and understanding they cannot fail to see that the party is attempting to deceive that large body of voters who left in 1860 on the issue of personal liberty which it had itself raised by its enactment of the odious and un-American compulsory education law of 1860, the campaign of 1860, when attacked on their position on the question, the republican leaders made a great show of conviction and courage in refusing to abandon or qualify it. They took democracy enough to believe that they could stampede democrats away from their party by false and pernicious know-nothing cries. The election returns proved conclusively that democrats are always and everywhere foes of oppression and friends of the oppressed, and Illinois republicanism found itself deserted by thousands of men who had previously contributed to its victories in the state.

Even under defeat these men of many unearned victories failed to comprehend the cause of their defeat. They attributed it to transitory and inconsequential causes which was due to permanent and important ones. When the democrats in the last assembly attempted to replace the republican law with one more in harmony with popular institutions, the republican majority in the senate united in its opposition and defeated it, leaving in the statutes of the state the laws that have been with all its oppressive features retained, and with the power to close school houses still lodged in the hands of school trustees.

Since that bold defiance of the aroused spirit of freedom in the state the republican leaders have heard something. It is a storm and they know it. They are beginning to have their convictions, but their moral courage has entirely deserted them in the knowledge that a great body of voters whose support has always been necessary to their success is gone out of the party driven out, rather, by oppression—and that the men who compose it have abandoned the republican party forever, not only on state but national lines.

Republican trepidation, in the face of such a crisis, is expressed by nearly all the speakers in these prayer-meetings now being held in Chicago. The unanimous expression of the speakers is that the party must "come down." It must abandon its high and lofty attitude and make the back track in the platform sense to be adopted at Springfield. It is desperation which leads men to believe that, having added insult to injury by refusing to even amend at one session the odious compulsory platform declaration. It has invited defeat, and it must take it.—St. Louis Republic.

WHAT OF BLAINE?

The Advocate of a "Vigorous Foreign Policy" is Silent.

The war is over, but what has become of the plumed knight, James G. Blaine? The gazette is silent concerning him, except to say that he lies in the field wounded. The war was Trine's and Harrison's. Mr. Blaine's political stock in trade for nearly twenty years has been an impression in the public mind that he was the yielding advocate of a vigorous foreign policy. He has never done anything but unplug his heart with words, but he is esteemed audacious, and the impression was accepted as the fact. Mr. Harrison does not seem to have discovered that Mr. Blaine is a fighting American. When the time came the great James went out, and he went out. The Blaine anchor has gone to the windward as usual. Mr. Blaine may be well pleased with his temporary eclipse. He is cunning. When he has been in the hands of the extreme of protection, he throw out suggestions of reciprocity, and when overwhelming disaster bore upon the extreme protectionists, he was accounted a savior for wisdom. There are more than four months to the date of the Minneapolis convention. MacIverelli in the state department counts, perhaps, upon the inevitable reaction in the public mind against the bravo of a president looking for a renomination.

Just what the relations existing between the president and Blaine are the public can only guess. How is it that a candidate for the presidential nomination owing his seat in the cabinet to the favor of the president can remain there passes ordinary understanding. Blaine appears to be a perfunctory officer. The president does not trust him, yet knowing his popularity with the republican party seeks to laudate his methods and blunders, greatly to the satisfaction apparently of the secretary, who stands ready to profligate these blunders.

If Harrison suffers by reason of this political family condition he has himself to blame. Knowing full well the character of Blaine's government, he placed him in his cabinet. If, having sowed the wind, he reaps the whirlwind there need be no sympathy for him.—Chicago Times.

AGAINST SUBSIDIES.

The Great Democratic Majority Declares Against the McKinley Tariff.

Corruption and extravagance have been dealt a telling blow in the national house of representatives. The great democratic majority, as it should, has placed itself fairly and squarely on the side of honest methods and retrenchment in governmental expenses. There is something in the very sound of the words "subsidy" and "bounty" that gives them a bad name to most Americans. Even the incessant beating of tomtoms in praise of this essentially foreign policy has failed to win over to its support the small contingent of McKinleyite nominees for congress, which escaped the memorable tidal wave of November, 1890.

Neither Mr. Harrison nor Mr. Blaine, both of whom are as devoted to the subsidy and bounty heresies, can find food for comfort in the figures of the vote on the Holman resolution opposing the creation of favored classes of every kind. There were recorded in its favor two hundred and twenty-nine votes, while only forty members—less than half the small strength of the republican side of the house—recorded themselves in opposition.

It was a notable success for Mr. Holman and the democratic cause. All attempts to explain away the lack of republican opposition must rest upon the heads of the republican leaders in congress. To seek to minimize the significance of that paltry vote of forty is simply to throw the greatest discredit upon the party's alertness and appreciation.

There is great significance in what is a manifest, though silent, revolt in the republican minority in congress against those twin relics of autocratic government, the subsidy and the bounty. Nowhere will this significance be more keenly appreciated than at the white house and in the private office of the secretary of state.—Boston Globe.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

—It is not at all likely that New York will ever again present the anomaly of a democratic state misrepresented by two republican senators.—N. Y. World.

—It is a mean thing for manufacturers to pop up and send out certain parts of the McKinley bill. The country prefers to believe that Mr. McKinley wrote it all, except what Mr. Blaine put in.—Louisville Courier Journal.

—Since Mr. Cleveland never said that he was a candidate he will hardly come out to notify the country that he is not. He will let the country pick the candidates and if the democratic party picks him he will serve. Otherwise he will remain in private life a sterling democrat and a good citizen.—Kansas City Times.

—In 1888 the democratic national ticket, on a platform of radical tariff reform, carried the country on the popular vote by a majority exceeding twenty-one. In 1890, on the same platform, it swept the country. If the democracy stands by its colors this year there need be no fear that it will meet with any "unsatisfactory" result in November.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

—If the New York republican organs want a text for a homily upon gerrymandering let them look to Ohio, where the state legislature of 1891, where they are cutting the map up into a Chinese puzzle or a crazy quilt in the endeavor to make sixteen sure republican congressional districts out of twenty-one. If President Harrison does not protest against this sort of thing what had he in mind? Perhaps it is only democratic gerrymandering that is wicked in his eyes. New York President Harrison would have been much stronger as a republican candidate for reelection if he had made as much of an effort to demonstrate that the United States revenue officials had been respected in the transaction of their official duties by the moonshiners of the "solid south," and protected in the discharge of the duties, as he has in the case of the Ohio legislature. He has been murdered by moonshiners in the "solid south" during Harrison's administration. The number of American sailors killed by the Chilians, but yet no effort has ever been made by the administration to punish the murderers of our officials.—Iowa State Register (Rep.).

HAZEL GREEN HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, Editor.

HAZEL GREEN, KY.:
Friday, March 18, 1892.

For Congress—10th District.

We are authorized to announce MARTIN C. LINDSEY, of Winchester, Ky., as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the 10th Kentucky District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce J. M. KENDALL, of Floyd county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the 10th Kentucky District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

CURRENT NEWS AND COMMENT.

THE announcement of J. Morgan Kendall, to succeed to the vacancy in Congress caused by the sad and sudden death of his lamented father, meets the approval of not only the Democrats but a host of conservative Republicans as well. Floyd, Elliott, Magoffin, Morgan and Menefee counties have already held conventions and endorsed him, and in the county of Elliott the Republicans also met and complimented him with an endorsement. The impression prevails that the mantle of the lamented father could not fall upon a more worthy man as his successor than his learned son, and this is strongly evidenced by the action of the counties named. J. M. Kendall is thirty one years of age, has a liberal education, is a good talker and fine speaker, a lawyer by profession and a politician from preference. He embodies every essential requisite to successfully carry out the plans of his lamented father, and should he succeed to the position he will wear the honor thus bestowed in a becoming, business like and dignified manner, and the indications now point to his nomination beyond question. That he should be so popular with his own people is but natural, and should he reach the goal of his ambition they feel that they can point with pride to his career in Congress.

THE announcement of Hon. Marcus C. Lisle, the present County Judge of Clark county, for Congress, to succeed the late J. W. Kendall, appears at the head of this column. Mr. Lisle is in every way qualified for the position to which he aspires, and should he be chosen to fill the vacancy the trust this could not be placed in better hands. He is a young man, especially bright in native intellect, well educated in the law and learned in State craft. In short, he is the peer of any man in the district, and withal a gentleman, to honor whom is a pleasure. Where he is best known he is one of the most popular young men we ever knew, being possessed of a magnetism that attracts men to him. The county of Clark is entitled to some consideration for the part she has heretofore played in our elections, and if it be the wish of the delegates in convention to record her honor of the nomination, our personal acquaintance with Mr. Lisle is sufficient to guarantee that the honor will have been most worthily bestowed. We invite attention to his card and the many expressions therein, and commend to our constituents a due consideration of his claims.

Gov. GRAY, of Indiana, refuses to become a candidate for Governor and thus lose his chance of the nomination for the Presidency. Gov. Gray might profit by the following allusion: "A bird in the hand, as you may understand, is worth forty thousand millions on a tree." And, besides, when they come West for a candidate for that high place, they'll catch Carlisle.

THE policy shops at Newport and Covington have been closed on account of the Goodell battery bill recently passed by the General Assembly, and 75 to 100 clerks were thus thrown out of employment. Representative Wislaker expresses the opinion that the Court of Appeals will decide that the batteries are operating legally.

SPEAKER MORRIS and ex-Speaker Myers are said to be at daggers' points, and open war between them is looked for at any time.

CONGRESSMAN MILLER, a well known physician and the most popular politician in Louisville, died suddenly of heart failure Sunday night. Henry C. Miller had been Congressman for fourteen years, and it was generally understood that he could hold the place against all aspirants, as popular was he with the people.

POLICY is seeking a candidate for the Presidency is all hush. Let the Democratic party stand upon principle and put forth its best man regardless of section. And, as John G. Carlisle is intellectually head and shoulders above any other man in the party, he should be chosen to the nomination.

COL. A. K. McCLELLAN, of the Philadelphia Times, and a well posted politician, said in a speech at Charleston, S. C., recently that David B. Hill could carry a single Northern State should he be the Democratic nominee for President, and he sized up the situation.

We hear it rumored that there are several aspirants for the vacancy caused by the death of the lamented John W. Kendall, but at the present writing we have no positive knowledge of any but the two mentioned in THE HERALD.

THE letter of Hon. David Sublett, of Salersville, declining to make the race against J. M. Kendall for Congress, was a manly letter from a manly man, and Dave will be remembered hereafter.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11, '92.
War with Great Britain would not necessarily follow if this Government should decide, as it probably will, unless Lord Salisbury should change his mind about that maline vivendi, to send a naval force to Heligoland strong enough to seize all the paucal vessels, but it would certainly be expected, and, in fact, to be welcomed by lots of people in this country. President Harrison has sent the arbitration treaty and all the correspondence not before made public to Congress, and nothing more will probably be done until Lord Salisbury answers the communication protesting against his declining to renew the molasses war, which, although signed by Mr. Whitton, who is acting Secretary of State during Secretary Blaine's illness, was written by President Blaine's illness, and unanimously approved by a Cabinet meeting. It is written in the smooth language of diplomacy, but Lord Salisbury will have no difficulty in reading between the lines the expressed determination to maintain at all hazards the position taken from the first.

In the Senate there is a very decided disposition to retaliate upon Canada should Lord Salisbury adhere to his refusal to renew the molasses vivendi, in fact there would be little or no difficulty in getting the sanction of a majority of the Senate to an open declaration of war against Great Britain, so intense is the feeling against the government of that country.

A large number of petitions from the Farmer's Alliance in various sections of the country asking for legislation in accordance with the principles of that organization, were presented to Congress this week. The Pure Food bill, which has been advocated by Representatives of that organization, was passed by the Senate.

Commander Folger, Chief of the Ordnance Bureau of the Navy, who is in charge of the gun shops at the Washington navy yard, testified before the subcommittee of the House Committee on Labor, this week, on the advantages of the eight hour law, as drafted by Col. Ernst and Gen. Casey, of the Engineer Corps of the Army; but Commander Folger's statements were much the strongest in fact no stronger argument was ever made in favor of the eight hour system than his statement of how it works on his department. He said that he believed it would be a great blessing if the system were universally adopted, that the labor and work would be improved; that at the Washington navy yard he was turning out better and cheaper guns under eight hours work per day than the contractors were doing under the ten hour system.

The River and Harbor Committee will grant no more hearings, as its members are already committed to appropriations that will make the bill carry about $20,000,000, and they fear to run it any higher. The river and harbor bill is, to speak paradoxically, both popular and unpopular. It is popular in those sections which get or expect to get appropriations for the improvement of rivers and harbors, and unpopular in the sections which have neither rivers nor harbors to be improved. "You tickle me and I'll tickle you" is the principle upon which it is made up and passed.

The United States Patent Office is the main branch of Uncle Sam's business establishment carried on at a profit. It has been earning to its credit in the treasury of about $1,000,000 a portion of which one patent commissioner after another has begged Congress to spend in its business properly. Congress has turned a deaf ear to these appeals, and now the manufacturers, inventors, owners of patents and others who find it helpful to conduct business with the office for the negligence of Congress, as will be seen by the following which is a copy of a letter sent to all applicants for copies of patents: "The Patent Office regrets that, in consequence of want of room for the storage and arrangement of printed copies of patents, it will be impossible to fill your order in current issues until additional room is provided by the proper authorities." This ought to bring the blush of shame to the face of every member of Congress.

The large vote by which the resolution setting aside three days from March 25th for the consideration of the Blaine free exchange bill was adopted by the House has removed the last vestige of doubt about the passage of that bill. It is now only a question of how large the majority will be.

After many postponements on account of sickness, and once on account of the death of Representative Kendall, of Kentucky, the tariff debate has at last got under way. When it will end no one can say, as a great many members want to make speeches on it; but the present programme is to take a vote on the free wool bill on the 21st inst. Then, after the free exchange bill is passed, another tariff bill will be called up.

"Seeing is Believing."

And a good lamp must be simple; when it is not simple it is not good. Simple, Beautiful, Good—these words mean much, but to see "The Rochester" will impress the truth more forcibly. All metal, tough and seamless, and made in three pieces only, it is absolutely safe and unbreakable. Like Aladdin's of old, it is indeed a "wonderful lamp," for its marvelous light is purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light and more cheerful than either.

Look for this lamp. The Rochester. If the lamp dealer hasn't the genuine Rochester, and the sale you want to see for our new illustration, and we will send you a lamp safely by express—your choice of over 4,000 varieties from the Largest Lamp Store in the World.

Do You Need Money?

If so, you can get something better than dollars from us. The completion of the K. C. R. R. to Jackson has cut us off from a large wholesale trade heretofore had by us in several counties east, and left on our hands an immense stock of goods, which we are compelled to unload, and in order to do so we are determined to make prices do the work, prices which will make our patrons happy and make competitors howl. We offer to Country Merchants extra inducements, and guarantee to their lower prices than they ever get before. We are overstocked and must unload. Remember we will duplicate any bill, with freights added, either wholesale or retail, east or west, north or south, up hill or down. We are now receiving such lines, bought for cash at business bargains, as will fill every department. New, fresh, seasonable, choice and cheap. We can astonish you with covered with goods at half prices. As the prices we name merely give us a chance to get our money out of the goods, we cannot afford credit. Goods will be sold for cash only, or country produce, live stock and school claims taken in exchange. We have opened a new department under the charge of Miss Laura Rawlings and Miss Lula Day, which is fully stocked with fine Millinery, Notions, Ladies' Furnishing Goods, Wall Paper, Carpets and Oil Cloths, School Books and Supplies, Pictures and Frames etc., etc. Miss Rawlings is a thoroughly competent Milliner and Dress Maker, and we offer you a City Stock to select from. You can get as fine and stylish Millinery and Dresses here as anywhere, and at the very lowest prices. Yours, etc.,

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Senator—3rd District,

ALEX. H. HARGIS.

Off Breathitt County, Election Monday, March 21, 1892.

Be sure and vote for Hargis Monday.

Holly Wilson and family have moved from town back to their farm on Grassy.

Don't forget to go to your voting place Monday and vote for Alex. H. Hargis.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is just what you want for a spring medicine—superior to all.

J. T. Day and J. W. Craven, who attended Menefee Circuit Court, returned home Tuesday.

We had no letter from Ezel last week, and this week it came so late that we are compelled to omit it.

Joe Lee Wilson had the misfortune to get one of his arms broken last week. He was thrown from a mule.

THE HERALD and Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer one year for only $1.50, and now is the time to subscribe.

Mrs. Angelina Caskey, wife of W. T. Caskey, has been appointed postmistress at this place, vice her husband.

Ike McGuire, Farmer Hawkins and a man named Moore, U. S. Deputy Marshals, were on town Tuesday evening, guests of the Day House.

The case of Albert Barnes and George Stevens, charged with killing Kelly Day, was called in the Menefee Court Monday and continued until next term.

Born—To the wife of Dr. John A. Taulbee, Saturday night, a daughter, and all the who have seen it pronounce it one of the handsomest babies they ever saw.

Kelce Nickell, a son of Holly Nickell, living on Red River a few miles above Hazel Green, had the misfortune Sunday to lose his house and all its contents by fire.

Democrats, remember that a State Senator is to be elected in this Senatorial District next Monday, and be sure that you go the polls and vote for Alex. H. Hargis.

Go to H. F. Pieratt & Co.'s and buy the wire nail at 5c. per lb. If not satisfactory when tried, money refunded.

H. F. PIERATT & CO.

The snow which fell here on Monday night, Tuesday and Wednesday night, and again Wednesday night and Thursday, is the deepest for five years, it being fully a foot in depth on a level.

Democrats, the signs indicate that the Republican party has been making a still hunt in the race for State Senator, and unless every man is at his post they will try to put in their man.

For Sale or Rent.

35 Acres of Land, 15 cleared; good 5-room dwelling, good barn and necessary outbuildings. Liberal terms. Call on or address: J. M. OLIVER, JR., Frenchburg, Ky.

Wanted—A few choice lamb hams at this office at 15c. a pound in cash, or 10c. a pound up subscription.

A. H. HARGIS NOMINATED—J. M. KENDALL ENDORSED.

Proceedings of the Democratic Senatorial Convention.

At the Senatorial Convention, held in Hazel Green, Ky., on March 15, 1892, Hon. Joe M. Kash was elected Chairman and Dr. J. A. Taulbee Secretary. The following delegates were present: Col. J. P. Salter, H. M. Carr, Hon. J. M. Pieratt, J. M. Ingram, Wm. M. Kendall, J. Reb Kendall, S. H. Taulbee, Mason Jones, John M. Rose, H. F. Pieratt, J. T. Day, Gardner Jones, Sam Swango, Wm. Tyler, W. T. Swango, J. H. Pieratt, R. D. Motley, J. H. Evans, O. W. Cecil, J. W. Craven, John Robeson, Tom Peitry, Murrell Tyler, Ellis Johnson, Ler Patrick.

On motion of Col. John P. Salter, seconded by H. M. Carr, A. H. Hargis, of Breathitt County, was nominated by acclamation as the Democratic candidate to succeed his father, John S. Hargis, deceased, in the Senate of Kentucky.

The Chairman appointed Dr. J. A. Taulbee, Hon. W. M. Kendall and Col. John P. Salter to notify Mr. Hargis of his nomination.

HAZEL GREEN, Ky., March 16, '92.

HON. A. H. HARGIS, Jackson, Ky.

Dear Sir:—Having been commissioned by the Democratic Senatorial Convention, this day held in this place, to nominate a candidate to fill the unexpired term of your late, lamented father, Hon. John S. Hargis, in the Senate of Kentucky, to inform you of the action of said Convention, beg leave to say that you were, by acclamation, nominated as the Democratic candidate to succeed your father, and we trust and feel that you will not hesitate to carry the banner of Democracy to victory at the polls.

J. A. TAULBEE, W. M. KENDALL, JOHN P. SALTER, Committee.

On motion of Col. John P. Salter, seconded by Hon. John M. Pientz, of Morgan, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we sincerely regret the death of John W. Kendall, our Representative in Congress, and commend to the memory of this Congressional District his son, Joe M. Kendall, of the County of Floyd, as an honest man, a true Democrat, and one in every way worthy to fill the unexpired term of his lamented father.

The Convention then adjourned sine die. JOE M. KASH, Chairman. DR. J. A. TAULBEE, Sec'y.

Breeders of this section may see the pictures of two of the greatest trotting sires in Kentucky by calling at this office. They are Fayette Wilkes and Bermuda, respectively, and those interested in trotting horses are respectfully invited to call and take a peep at them, and they will then be convinced that they are the horses you wish to breed to.

J. T. Day and wife and little daughter, Daisy, left Thursday morning for Mt. Sterling, where Mrs. Day and Daisy will spend a short time visiting relatives. Mr. Day will go on to Cincinnati and Louisville, where he will purchase the largest stock of goods ever brought to the mountains.

There is every probability that the Republicans will spring a candidate for State Senator next Monday in the hope that they can slip their man in by reason of Democratic lethargy. Be on your guard, Democrats, and see that the full strength of your precinct is polled for A. H. Hargis.

Philp Winn told us while here a few days since that the bank with which he is connected—the Winchester—had $50,000 to $80,000 more deposits than any bank in Winchester. It pays to advertise, and especially in THE HERALD.

The following gentlemen were here as delegates from Morgan county on Wednesday last: Col. John P. Salter, Hon. W. M. Kendall, ex-State Senator J. M. Pieratt, Sheriff Ben Carr, Deputy Sheriff J. M. Ingram and J. Reb Kendall.

Our old friend, P. B. Wan, of Winchester, was here Sunday and Monday in the interest of the candidacy of Judge M. C. Lisle, and that he did the latter much good by coming is everywhere apparent.

Jeff Wells and wife, the latter a sister of W. T. Caskey, are visiting Uncle Bill's Caskey on Grassy. It is the first time Mr. Wells and wife have been here for twenty years. Their home is in Missouri.

Don't you owe us for THE HERALD? If so, please call and settle, or send the amount to us at once. We need it!

WOLFE COUNTY.

Campion Currency.

W. F. Elkins and family left this place yesterday for Greer County, Texas. This adds another name to the long list of good citizens that this county has lost by the contagion known as Texas fever.

A. F. Ryd received a letter from J. M. Cokerhous, Jr., from Eldorado, Texas, stating that they had all reached their destination without any accident.

Clyde, little son of Dr. J. H. Stamper, who has for a long time been in a precarious condition with fever, we are pleased to state is improving.

Mrs. T. F. Stamper has been seriously ill for several days with a kind of an ulcer on her breast.

POULTRY HOUSE HEATER.

The design of a cheap poultry house heater, by Miss Hattie Seely, Hammon, N. J., is not only novel, but it is a contrivance that costs so little, and can be so quickly and easily arranged, as to commend itself at a glance. An ordinary lamp having a tin chimney, with a piece of mica in front of the chimney (so as to slow the flame), is surrounded by an ordinary stovepipe (the larger the pipe the better), or a sheet-iron or tin pipe may be made for the purpose, a board being arranged at the bottom of the pipe, by tacking the pipe to the board, for the lamp to rest on. Or, if preferred, two cross strips may be placed at the bottom in place of the board, as it will allow more air to come in. Air holes are cut all around the pipe, so as to permit of a free circulation of air. A sliding door, or one to raise up and down, may be arranged for placing the lamp in the pipe, or for taking it out for filling, or the bottom strips may be arranged for that purpose. No solder is used—all the parts being riveted. At the top is a cross-piece, also made of iron or tin, the arrows indicating the direction of the heat. The heater may be hung up by wire (which is attached to the hook shown on top) from the roof, but within three feet of the floor, to prevent interference or contact by the fowls. If preferred, the heater may rest on the floor, but should then be protected by a wire cage to protect against the hens. Any kind of lamp, or small coal-oil stove, may be used, and the chimney should be of tin, riveted (not soldered). It is best to have the whole heater made by a tinner, of tin or sheet-iron, and about ten inches in diameter and twenty inches high, the cross-piece, which is about twenty inches long, but stove-pipe may be used over a small lamp. In place of the cross-piece, a tin plate may rest on wire pegs, raised three inches over the top of the pipe, to allow of free draught. By this arrangement, the heat is distributed in both directions from the center of the poultry house. It is only necessary to keep the lamp, heater, and chimney at a low zero is warm enough, and the house will also be kept dry. There will be no injury from foul air or carbonic acid gas, as plenty of air will always find its way in. This heater may be used only on cold nights.—Farm and Fireside.

POULTRY IN WINTER.

The kind of feeding that will assure satisfactory results.

In the morning give the fowls a warm breakfast, prepared the evening previous by putting up a bucket of clover hay in half-inch lengths, using a cutter made for the purpose. To this cut hay add one quart of cornmeal and two quarts of bran; seal with boiling water and let it stand overnight, covered with a piece of old carpet or burlap. Before feeding it in the morning stir the whole mass thoroughly together, and while it is warm place it in the feet troughs, and let them eat sparingly of it, but in a few days they will clean it up all neatly and very quickly. After this feed they will sing merrily, and be very happy, and in a little later their croaking song is changed to the staccato cackle which announces the much coveted eggs. At dinner time two quarts of wheat may be scattered among the litter, and an equal quantity of cracked corn for dinner. This is the best feed for them for it. They scratch and pick among the chaff, obtaining the exercise needed to prevent storing up fat, which is to be always avoided as an enemy to egg production. In the evening, before they go to their roosts, give them a feed of whole corn which furnishes employment to their digestive machinery during the night, and supplies the needed heat while inactive. This promotes a comfortable night's rest which poultry need as well as man.

Twice a week change the morning feed, omit the clover hay, and give them a warm mess composed of mashed boiled potatoes, turnips, beef scraps and dissolved pork crackers, some corn meal and wheat bran, all thoroughly mixed and fed warm (not hot). This supplies the variety necessary to health. The beef scraps and pork crackers supply animal food in place of the worms and bugs they get while at liberty. The potatoes and turnips and corn meal together give them pure corn meal.—American Agriculturist.

At no time is it desirable to feed poultry an exclusive grain diet; they need more bulky food.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Bad Highways Are a Source of Great Loss and Annoyance.

Under present conditions in most localities it is the farmer that loses most by bad roads. It is his teams that do most of the heavy hauling on the roads in getting his crops to market. Before so many railroads were built merchants, millers and others in towns and cities were obliged to do a considerable amount of hauling, but a large portion of this is avoided now, and the farmer is perhaps more interested in good roads than any others. He must use the roads all through the year, and it is often the case when the farmers should use them to the best advantage they are in the worst condition. Bad roads often prevent the farmer from taking advantage of a favorable time to market his crops. He must sell when the roads are good, so that he can haul, and in consequence his products are forced upon the market during the latter part of summer or early fall, whether they are in demand or not. They are often bought and held until there is a better demand, and then they are sold at a profit.

With better roads, so that farmers could be sure of marketing at any time, more or less of the products could be stored and put on the market more gradually. The extra wear and tear of the teams, wagons and harness caused by bad roads is an important item of expense, which, if it could be saved and applied towards keeping up the roads, would pay a good part of the expense.

One objection to the present system of road work is that we fail to get value received. The cost is made seemingly light, but in great majority of cases better work could be done at half the expense with better management. Experience has proved that the cost of making good roads is readily repaid by the increased value of the farming land near it. Yet many are hard to convince that it is profitable to go to the expense of building good roads. But when well built they are never allowed to fall into disrepair.

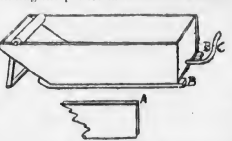

It would hardly be possible to undertake to make all the roads good at once, but if all the money spent by a county on roads scattered all over the county, a few parts of it are practically thrown away, was concentrated only on such a length as could be made thoroughly good, we should have good roads in a much less time than we will under the present system.

During the winter is a good time to consider this question. The roads themselves usually supply a good argument and the farmer has more time to think and talk it over.—St. Louis Republic.

PRIZE HOG TROUGH.

An Excellent Trough for Sealing Hogs of Large Size.

To seal hogs of 400 to 600 pounds a corner plank is inadequate. Nothing is better than the tank or trough shown. It should be made of 10-foot plank 2 inches thick. These should be planed smooth on all sides and edges and put together with 4-inch screws. It is still better, 4-inch screws. Each joint should be painted with thick lead and oil, and tightened by a piece of candle wax saturated in the same strong on the edge of the joining plank before it is put together, the reeking will be held straight by being stretched on a small nail at each end. Let it be nearest the inside of the tank as on the left of plank shown. A 1/2 inch of the bottom of one end of the trough is beveled to facilitate the work of sliding the porker in and out. For the same purpose a roller placed as shown is a great aid, and also for turning the hog over for complete sealing. A frame is hinged to the under side of the beveled end to support it while the hog is being drawn out. This can be battened close when the trough is not in use. For transporting it use a stone boat, or rule runners may be built permanently on the bottom of the trough for it to ride upon. Sled shoes will do, as at A. A piece of inch board C is forced through an anchor hole at the bottom and is used for the double purpose of heating the water by steam from a cauldron with a light fire, and for drawing the tank when the sealing is done. If the free end of the hose is kept at the height of the top of the tank or higher no water will escape. Throwing the ground, all labor of emptying it is dispensed with. The scraping platform is arranged at the beveled end.—N. E. Homestead.

How to Make Meat Quickly. Though known as a fact by the experience of farmers it has also been established by experiments made for that purpose that the per cent. of food is not in use. For transporting it use a stone boat, or rule runners may be built permanently on the bottom of the trough for it to ride upon. Sled shoes will do, as at A. A piece of inch board C is forced through an anchor hole at the bottom and is used for the double purpose of heating the water by steam from a cauldron with a light fire, and for drawing the tank when the sealing is done. If the free end of the hose is kept at the height of the top of the tank or higher no water will escape. Throwing the ground, all labor of emptying it is dispensed with. ### The February Wide Awake

Comes promptly to hand with an exceedingly varied and entertaining list of contents. We wonder if the parents of our boys and girls really know what an excellent and absorbing story Mrs. Mary Mcintosh Cox is giving us in her serial "Jack Brereton's Three Months' Service." While the young people read it with growing interest and imbibe lessons in honor, manliness and devotion to duty from its stirring incidents, not one of the older generation but can live again the dramatic scenes of 1861 which it portrays, when homes were rent and anxious hearts were overstrained. The story appeals to all. So, too, though in a different way, does the Arabian story of pluck and endurance, "The Lance of Karianna," thrill its readers month by month. The camel race over the desert described in the February number is full of a force and fire that stirs the blood of every reader. Among the important contributions to the February Wide Awake is the last story, "The Sign of the Prophet," written by Elton McCormick, one of New York's promising newspaper men, untimely cut off by death scarcely six months since. Mrs. Harriet Maxwell-Converse has another story, "The Sign of the Cross," which is a story of the "Wild Seventy Chiefs at Oshewakan." Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott talks delightfully about "Some Horses that I have known." Mrs. Jane Austen gives the charming story of "Lora Standish's Sampler," of which all readers of "Standish of Standish" and "Betty Alden" will be glad to know more. Lovers of adventure will enjoy Lieut. Col. Thorndike's thrilling experience "In the Straits of Cape Horn." Harriet Pickney Huse's sketch of a storm "On a Florida Reef," and Henry Cleveland Woods' Kentucky plantation story, "Under Fire," Dorothy Holcomb's "Writings-down" about "The Night of the Fire" will raise the ready smile. "The First Steamboat" and "A Yet Sober" are short instructive papers, and the department "Men and Things" is full of readable items. The poetry of the number is excellent. The pictures in the number are illustrative and characteristic, and the long that the children of this generation who have the possibilities of regularly reading so helpful and elevating a magazine as WIDE AWAKE are blessed indeed, is emphasized again by a perusal of the February issue.

WIDE AWAKE is published at 20 cents per number, $2.40 per year.

Arrested—the progress of Consumption. In all its earlier stages, it can be cured. It's a scrofulous affection of the lungs—a blood taint—and, as in every other form of scrofula, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a certain remedy. But it must be taken in time—and now is the time to take it.

It purifies the blood—that's the secret. Nothing else acts like it. It's the most potent strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-builder known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, and all lingering Coughs, it's a remedy that's guaranteed, in every case, to benefit or cure.

Two Faithful Friends.

The Paris Kentucky Citizen says: "It is known that Gen. J. M. McKim, formerly, had selected Hon. C. L. Lockart for the Judgeship (Superior Court), knowing him personally, and recognizing in him a man eminently fitted for the position."

In the face of this, Mr. Lockhart came in Frankfort and personally appealed to the Governor to appoint his friend Judge Brent, and the Kentucky Citizen says it "was a worthy and gracious act, and reflects great credit upon him."

In 1878 the writer of this went with the late Col. Phil Lee to ask of Gov. Leslie the appointment of the late Gen. Wm. L. Jackson, of Louisville, to the vacancy in the Judgeship of the Jefferson Circuit Court. Before we could make known our mission, Leslie surprised us by saying that he had made up his mind to appoint Col. Lee to the vacancy, he being at the time the Commonwealth's Attorney for the district. The worthy gentleman had truly never wavered for a moment, but promptly declined, telling Gov. Leslie that he had come to recommend Gen. Jackson, and could, under no circumstances, accept the position he sought for his eminent friend, who was so admirably equipped for the bench.

Reluctantly the Governor accepted the declaration of Col. Lee, and Gen. Jackson was appointed, serving until his death, a number of years later.

A weaker man, a less faithful friend than Col. Lee or Mr. Lockhart, in either of these instances, would have thrown in his hand and taken the office that came unsought. Such incidents sweeten the color of life and bring material age.—Frankfort Citizen.

Catarrh Can't Be Cured

With local applications as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and reaches the seat of the disease and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is registered in the medical profession. It is composed of the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. ## Overworked Adjectives.

That our list of adjectives is inadequate to supply the demands is plainly apparent when it becomes necessary to add the Deity of his attributes to supply the deficiency. When it is common to remark the "divine" of a thing, or that; that Mrs. Deane is "divinely" fair; that some delinquent was arrayed in one of World's "creations," and like exaggerated assertions, the ones whose vocabulary doesn't include words applicable to the "heavens above, the earth beneath and the waters under the earth," isn't it in "it" to speak. The public or isn't it? The signs and women are gradually taking the place of belles and gentlemen and in some remote quarters adjectives are not altogether indicative of ignorance and bad form. So far, therefore, from despairing at the paucity of the language, there is hope that we may finally be saved from the necessity of resorting to pantomime in order to be fully understood. Nelson Record.

"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days against ten for the first attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first I was able to attend to business about twenty hours before getting 'down.'" 50 cent bottles for sale by Rose & Jones.

Hill and Tammany.

A special from Washington says: "The defeat of David B. Hill in his rotten borough of Elmira, has occasioned a goodly degree of agitation among those Congressmen who have offered David the votes of their States in the Chicago Convention, and the votes of Oregon are yet more significant. The spring elections so far held in New York show a Democratic loss of 110 Supervisors, and these same Supervisors have a great deal to do with the counting of votes. There is a fear that Hill and Tammany have not got New York nailed down after all. Before the beginning of April the situation is liable to be changed by the vote of the assembly of the National Democratic Convention. Mr. Hill will be called upon to face it, and that will be occasion for a new agitation. There used to be a man in France named Boninger."

Messrs. Cope & Sherman, of Alexander, Texas, writes us regarding a remarkable cure of rheumatism they are as follows: "The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the postmaster here, had her bedridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured. We refer any one to her to verify this statement." 50 cent bottles for sale by Rose & Jones.

If you wish to retain love of your best girl, never let her see dirt in your ears or under your finger-nails, and always keep your teeth clean.

Valuable Holes in the Ground.

Strolling about Virginia City, Nev., some way back, Monday, calling to him a cavity in the ground, said to John R. M. Young: "Out of that hole I got $150,000 in silver bullion. This was one of the famous Bonanza mines, and the value of the same are not all passed and gone. A telegram says the Mollie (Gibson mine) at Aspen, Col., will make dividends of $3,000,000 for March, and the Kerrits mine says it is worth $10,000,000. In April, looking up previous records of all the silver mines of the earth. Mollie could well afford to chip in $100,000 for the campaign fund of those who would make seventy cents worth of silver push for one hundred cents in gold.—Louisville Times.

The New Dictionary.

The answer of the publishers of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary to the attempt of pirates to steal their thunder by selling cheap publications representing the same, and the publication of the new and completely revised and enlarged edition of the antient Unabridged, which as a distinctive title bears the name of International.

The publishers have expended in the last ten years over $300,000 in the preparation of this new book before entering the first copy, and the improvements of the various editions since that of 1847 have cost over three-fourths of a million of dollars for editing, illustrating, typesetting and electrotyping.

The new Dictionary is the best book of its kind in the English language. It unlocks mysteries, resolves doubts, and decides disputes. The possession of it and the habit of consulting it will tend to promote knowledge, literary taste and self-reliance. For every family, the members of which have mastered reading, the purchase of Webster's International Dictionary will prove a profitable investment, and the more they advance in knowledge and cultivation, the more they will appreciate its aid and worth.

For I do believe there is a Mugwump in Kentucky."

Make the Mayor Recorder.

The Lexington Leader advocates a proposition to have the new charter of that city which the Board of Aldermen, which it denounces as "useless fixture," and merge the offices of Mayor and Recorder into one. The tendency of the new charter in Lexington, says the Leader, has been to establish securities by multiplying offices. The Leader takes no thought of the danger that too much training may destroy politics as a profitable industry, and may create a class of cheap and unskilled labor into other occupations.—Courier Journal.

Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment.

From Petion to Insane Asylum.

Thomas Disney, a convict sent in 1887 from Louisiana county for the murder of George Peters, was last week adjudged insane before County Judge Williams of Frankfort. He was thereupon paroled out of the penitentiary by the County Court, and ordered to be sent to the asylum at Lexington. Disney's mania is religion, and for nearly six weeks since he was first suspected he has been confined in a cage and preaching. He has a brother in the Asylum Asylum, and many relatives from his home county of Knox in the Lexington Asylum.

There is no danger from whooping cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given.

There is no danger from whooping cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given. It cures the toughest, most tenacious mucus and aids in its expectoration. It also lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, and lessens a speedy recovery. There is not the least danger in giving it to children or babies, as it contains no injurious substance. 50 cent bottles for sale by Rose & Jones.

A Guaranteed Remedy.

Mergolins, the only permanent cure for all forms of headache and neuralgia, relieves the pain in 15 to 20 minutes. For sale on positive guarantee at THE HERALD office, or sent postpaid by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box.

Fourth dam Jessie by Thomas Jefferson. He is a beautiful black, with right hind and white hind legs, and a perfect horse all over, having both form and substance, combined with the form and finish of the first copy, and the improvements of the various editions since that of 1847 have cost over three-fourths of a million of dollars for editing, illustrating, typesetting and electrotyping.

The new Dictionary is the best book of its kind in the English language. It unlocks mysteries, resolves doubts, and decides disputes. The possession of it and the habit of consulting it will tend to promote knowledge, literary taste and self-reliance. For every family, the members of which have mastered reading, the purchase of Webster's International Dictionary will prove a profitable investment, and the more they advance in knowledge and cultivation, the more they will appreciate its aid and worth.

Consumption Cured.

As old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by one of the most eminent of the medical faculty a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also of the cure of Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt its duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to who will desire it, a copy of this remedy, and will also send with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NUYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

That our list of adjectives is inadequate to supply the demands is plainly apparent when it becomes necessary to add the Deity of his attributes to supply the deficiency. When it is common to remark the "divine" of a thing, or that; that Mrs. Deane is "divinely" fair; that some delinquent was arrayed in one of World's "creations," and like exaggerated assertions, the ones whose vocabulary doesn't include words applicable to the "heavens above, the earth beneath and the waters under the earth," isn't it in "it" to speak. The public or isn't it? The signs and women are gradually taking the place of belles and gentlemen and in some remote quarters adjectives are not altogether indicative of ignorance and bad form. So far, therefore, from despairing at the paucity of the language, there is hope that we may finally be saved from the necessity of resorting to pantomime in order to be fully understood. Nelson Record.

Hill and Tammany.

A special from Washington says: "The defeat of David B. Hill in his rotten borough of Elmira, has occasioned a goodly degree of agitation among those Congressmen who have offered David the votes of their States in the Chicago Convention, and the votes of Oregon are yet more significant. The spring elections so far held in New York show a Democratic loss of 110 Supervisors, and these same Supervisors have a great deal to do with the counting of votes. There is a fear that Hill and Tammany have not got New York nailed down after all. Before the beginning of April the situation is liable to be changed by the vote of the assembly of the National Democratic Convention. Mr. Hill will be called upon to face it, and that will be occasion for a new agitation. There used to be a man in France named Boninger."

Messrs. Cope & Sherman, of Alexander, Texas, writes us regarding a remarkable cure of rheumatism they are as follows:

"The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the postmaster here, had her bedridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured. We refer any one to her to verify this statement." 50 cent bottles for sale by Rose & Jones.

Donkey 2100, Flora Wilkes, puer, 2145.

First dam Sally Hamlet (winner of two-year-old Hamlet stakes in 1875) by Hamlet (sire of Loretta 2128, A. V. Patten 2203, Truro, puer, 2224, Lily 2123, Lemon 2123, Brookside Farm 2203, and the dam of Thornless 2185, Zylene 2235, Trandy 2235, Graciel 2235, and Hamlet 2203).

Fourth dam of (sire of 2203), Captain Clay, Drifwood, and grandson of Marlowe, puer, 2135 by Canada Chief, sire of Governor 2203 and Joe Hooker, sire Madam Mandy 2174.

Third dam, the dam of Sals, that produced Blanche 2235, by Imp. Yorkville, sire of the dam of Ashland Chief, sire of Black Cloud 2174.

Fourth dam by Woodpecker, thoroughbred, sire of Prince 2174, ten miles in 26:08. The fee of Fayette Wilkes is within the reach of any lower dam than that of any horse of equal merit in Kentucky. Season $100, or $200 TO INSURE.

WEST CLOUD 5195.

Out of the dam of Black Cloud 2174, his sire out of the dam of Wilks 2100; his dam Miss Toss, dam of 1884. Bred at Ashland Park.

SIRED BY ABDALLAH WEST 2383.

(Sire of Wilks 2203).

First dam, the dam of Black Cloud 2174, by Prince 2174, puer, 2203.

Second dam the 1 Luke Pacing Mare.

NOTE.—Abdallah West 2383, by Allie West, sire of Miss Toss, dam of 1884, by Clark Chief; second dam Ohio, by American Clay; third dam brought from Ohio and represented by her, Brown's Bellflower. Abdallah West died at six years old. He was the most promising colt I ever bred.

West Cloud is a rich mahogany bay, 15 hands 2 inches, with black mane and tail, and black legs extending above the knees and hocks. He is powerfully built horse for his height, and has the most finished set of pink eye. He also had no work on the track as a four-year-old. As five-year-old he was jagged and traded lightly, more for the purpose of revealing if he was entirely covered than with a view of testing his speed. In a few months he trotted a full mile in 2:28 and half in 1:45. The season (1890) he served a few mares of my own, and was not put to work until September, and his improvement was most remarkable. He repeatedly trotted halves in 1:40, and I am fully convinced he will, with a season's training, trot in 2:20. I will let him serve twenty mares, season of 1892, outside of ten of my own, at $30 "RANGE." Money due when mare proves to be in foal.

Mares bred by the season not proving in foal have the usual privileges of return. I wish to form or breed on the shares.
